

HARMAN ACCEPTS FEES FOR PRIMARY

Three Congressmen Pay Price Under New Law, Taking No Chances.

Without regard to the legal point raised as to the reception of fees of candidates for office under the new primary law, State Treasurer Asher W. Harman is taking all the money offered to him. He expects to refuse none, notwithstanding the contrary notwithstanding. The law is not effective until June 1, and it has been claimed the treasurer cannot accept fees until that time.

Three candidates for Congress have already forwarded their checks to the State Treasurer. State officials and members of Congress who are candidates in primaries must remit to the State Treasurer, while local officers pay into the treasuries of their respective localities.

Those who have so far contributed to the State's exchequer are Representatives James Hays of the Seventh District, C. C. Carlin of the Eighth, and H. D. Flood of the Tenth. They have sent certified checks for $250 each, amounting to 5 per cent of one year's salary of the members of Congress.

The official receipt of Treasurer Harman goes to the congressional committee of the district affected. The checks are held, if the candidate has no opposition the check is returned to him as soon as he is declared the nominee. Neither of the three men who have paid has opposition so far.
